AN INVITATION.

The Blades of grass that clothe the hills

beckon to us, who toil and plod,

To list the melody of rill.

And breathe among the works of God.

The flowers are springing into life;

The birds, in meadow and in grove,

While all around with bloom is rife.

Pour forth their swelling songs of love

And I, who move in darkened ways—

Shall I pass on with lowered eyes,

Nor drink the music of their lays,

Nor upward look to azure skies—

Who in the past, in woe and stream,

Still found a voice of tender strain,

That told of many a boyish dream,

In tones the man may still retain?

The waving trees, with arms outspread,

While rustling winds through green

leaves creep,

Invite us to the shadowed bed—

The fancies of the noonday sleep.

I come, O trees! I come, O stream!

On grassy hills my feet shall press;

I'll taste the bliss of noonday dreams;

I'll drink the joy of spring's caress.

Occasional Monthly.

He Would Have His Garden.

We suppose there is a time that comes to every man when he feels

he should like to have a garden. If he takes such a notion he will tell his wife of it. This is the first mistake he makes, and the ground

thus lost is never fully recovered.

She draws her chair up to his, and lays one hand on his knee, and purses up her lips into a whistle of expectation—the vixen—and tells

about her mother's garden, and

how nice it is to have vegetables

fresh from the vines every morning,

and she will go right out and plan

the whole thing herself. And so she does. He takes his spade, and works himself into a perspiration,

and she tramps around under a frightful sun-bonnet, and gets under his feet and shrieks at the

worms, and loses her shoes, and

makes him first vexed, and then

mad, and then ferocious. After the garden is spaded, he gets the seed, and finds that she has been thoughtful enough to open the papers, and empty thirteen varieties

of different vegetables into one dish. This leads him to step out

NEW-YORK.

DR. S. M. PETTINGILL & CO.

37 Park Row, New York, 10 State St., Boston, and 701 Chestnut st., Philadelphia, are Agents for the Jacksonville

Republican in the above cities, and authorized to contract for advertising at our lowest rates.

Ed. L. Woodward, agent for the sale of McCroskey's Celebrated

Flour, Meal and Cow Feed.

It will be seen that Ed. L. Woodward has received a Fresh Lot of McCroskey's excellent Flour and Meal, the best we think ever brought to the place—at least we know it is the best we have ever purchased, and at lower prices.

Charlie Alexander has some of the finest cigars ever brought into this State.

The Re-unions of the 10th Alabama Regiment is the 8th day of August next. Will publish particulars next week.

Mr. Jones' tomato vines are growing with a perfect whoop.

The junior editor has been sick in bed nearly every day of this week.

One of our citizens has discovered a new manner of top dressing tomatoes, that is said to work a great improvement on the vines.

There is said to have been a great bustle observed among the vegetation of one of our best citizens, early one morning this week, caused, it is thought, by the presence of some of his wicked neighbors.

W. T. & C. S. Alexander has just received the finest lot of Cigars ever brought to Jacksonville.

Little Ula,

Young Sport,

Mocking Bird.

Attention is invited to the dissolution notice of the old and widely known law firm of Ellis & Caldwell. Col. Caldwell, the retiring member of the firm, abandons the practice of law, for the present, to better discharge the duties of the office to which the people of the Fifth Congressional District have called him. That he will discharge those duties faithfully and conscientiously, no one who knows him can doubt; that he may be able the better to discharge them, he throws off during his term of office the cares of his profession. However, as indicated in the dissolution notice, he will, jointly with Col. Ellis, give attention to those matters entrusted to them as a firm. To Col. Ellis, while playing his "one hand" we wish deserved prosperity.

Quite a thunder and rain storm last Thursday. Gov. Davis thought at one time the lightning had struck him, and came near stampeding.

We will give brother Sorsby, of Birmingham, room to defend his clerk next week. He only takes two pages and a half to do it in.

A man never knows how much he loves his sweet-heart, until he thinks some other fellow has got her—"Blessings brighter as they take their flight." No personal application. Our fighting man is out of town.

MERCHANT FLOURING MILL.

The undersigned having completely remodeled and thoroughly repaired the

STEVENSON MILLS,

situated two and a half miles south of Jacksonville, is now prepared to make flour of the finest quality, and as much to the bushel, according to grade, as any mill in the County. Very superior meal constantly on hand. Satisfaction guaranteed. Parties who have grinding to be done can be accommodated at any time.
A. O. STEWART.

We invite attention to the advertisement of Mr. A. O. Stewart. He is the owner of the most excellent mills and gives the whole his personal supervision. His meal and flour has gained quite a reputation. The mill is very convenient to Jacksonville and should be largely patronized. We can assure parties who may patronize Mr. Stewart that the fullest satisfaction will be rendered. Our merchants ought to purchase fresh meal from him instead of sending West for it.

Our young friend Quitman Read, one of the promising young men of Calhoun County, son of Rev. E. T. Read, left for West Point on the 20th inst. We learn that he has already passed the physical examination. That he will pass the second and more difficult one, no one acquainted with the mental calibre and acquirements of the young man can doubt. He is of the stuff that good soldiers are made of and we predict for him a brilliant future.

LUMBER! LUMBER!!

Col. Farr has 250,000 feet of lumber, of all sorts, sizes and qualities, with prices to suit. He will sell on time. No excuse for dilapidated houses and fences. Act wise, and buy your lumber while you can get it at your doors, at low prices, and build up the waste places, and keep old mulie out of the garden.

BARBERS.

Barbers and hair-dressers everywhere who use the LeCroix Hair Restorer pronounce it the finest hairdressing they have ever used. It is a great favorite everywhere, for its cleanliness and elegant perfume. It will restore gray hair by natural means, and give the hair a vigorous and rich growth.

READ THE EVIDENCE.

Thomas Beaumont, barber, of Clarksburg, Tennessee, has had abundant opportunity of witnessing the effect of the Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer, as used by his customers. He says it has proved very successful, pleasing, in every case, all who use it.

SO GENERAL has the public confidence

become in Dr. Ayer's medicines, and so great the demand for them, that unprincipled villains are attempting to deceive the unwary by imposing upon them their worthless nostrums under a similarity of name. Cherry Pectoral Lozenges, Dr. Ayer's Troches, Ayer's Pills for Coughs, Cherry Pectoral Cough Drops, Ayer's Fever and Ague Cure, Dr. Ayer's Indian Pills, &c., &c., (none of which are of Dr. Ayer's manufacture or composition) are specimens of this villainy and deceit. They not only defraud the sick of their money but of their health, or the recovery of their health, which is far more important than money. From actual counterfeits the people are protected by law which the Doctor promptly enforces, but these evasions sometimes elude the law, and purchasers must protect themselves by refusing to be deceived by them.

It. Dover (N. H.) Bee.

Medical Poisons on the Wane.

The patriarchs took no mercury, no bismuth, no iodine, no bromide of potassium, no strychnia, no quinine. Happy old gentlemen! they did not even know of the existence of these "specifics," and yet they lived until it seemed as if Death had forgotten them. Their medicines were herbs and roots. They have left this fact on record, and it is returning to the first principles of medicine. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the purest and most efficacious vegetable restorative of the blood, is the best of all. Thousands of persons who only a few years ago believed implicitly in all the poisons which figure in the pharmacopoeia, now pronounce the "patent" tonic and alterative an all-potent remedy for dyspepsia, nervous debility, constipation, bilious complaints, headache, intermittent fevers, and all the ordinary disorders of the stomach, the liver, the discharging organs and the brain. The time is not far distant when the most of the powerful and venomous drugs now so recklessly administered by practitioners of the "heroic" school in cases that might easily be controlled by milder treatment, will be utterly discarded by all philosophical physicians. As it is to the thinking public, who are generally ahead of the professionals, have already put the dangerous preparation aside and adopted Hostetter's Bitters in their stead as a safe and effective household medicine, adapted to all men, women, and children, except the deadly contagious diseases. For more than twenty years this famous restorative has held up the public confidence, and it now takes the lead of every advertised medicine manufactured in this country.

THE "RURAL CAROLINIAN" for June, comes to us with its usual regularity, its pages teeming with well selected matter of more than ordinary interest to agriculturists. The publishers seem determined to fully maintain its justly earned reputation as a first class agricultural publication, and are deserving of success for their praiseworthy efforts in their laudable undertaking, which not only conduces to individual success, but aids materially in the development of our resources and wealth as a nation. No planter or farmer should be without the "Rural Carolinian," if he desires success in his vocation. The terms are reasonable, being only $2 per annum for single subscriptions, with liberal inducements for clubs.

Beyond the Mississippi.

Thousands have already gone, and thousands more are turning their eyes towards new homes in the fertile West. To those going to Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada, Oregon or California, we recommend a safe quick and direct route, via St. Louis, over the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which runs its line day coaches and Pullman Sleepers from St. Louis to principal points in the West, without change. We believe that the Missouri Pacific Railroad is the best track and the finest and safest equipment of any line west of the Mississippi, and its connections with roads further West are prompt and reliable. The Texas connection of this road is now completed, and any passengers are offered a first class Pullman Sleeper from St. Louis to either the Missouri, Kansas & Texas R. R. via Sedalia, or over the Atlantic & Pacific R. R. via Vinland. For maps, time tables, information as to rates, routes, etc., we refer to J. F. Thompson, Southern Passenger Agent, Chattanooga, Tenn., or to J. A. Ford, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis. Mo. questions will be cheerfully and promptly answered.

Emigration Turning.

Cheap Farms in South-west Missouri.

The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company offers 1,200,000 acres of land in Central and Southwest Missouri, at from $3 to $12 per acre, on seven years, time with free transportation from St. Louis to all schools, churches and law-abiding settlers, and emigrants from all points to this land of fruits and flowers. For particulars address, A. Tuck, Land Commissioner, St. Louis, Mo.

Talladega District Conference.

Oxford, Ala., July 23-27, 1873.

Sermon Wednesday night by Rev. R. A. Timmons.

Conference business Thursday 9 a. m.

Preachers in charge—Local.

Preachers and all the official members of the Church will remember that the District Conference is ordered by the General Conference.

Hence, it is the duty of all to come and stay till the close. Take due notice brethren and govern yourselves, appointment and business accordingly. In the meantime let us all pray specifically importunately "everywhere" without ceasing for God to revive his work all over the District.

W. R. KIRK, P. E.

Jacksonville, Ala., June 5, 1873.

"Oxford Intelligencer," "Reporter" & Watch-Tower, and "Shelby Guide," please copy.

DISSOLUTION.

The Law partnership existing between the undersigned is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

Business heretofore entrusted to Ellis & Caldwell will receive the attention of both of the former partners, as circumstances may permit or the nature of the business may demand.

G. C. ELLIS,

JNO. H. CALDWELL,

Jacksonville, Ala., June 5th, '73.

The undersigned will continue the practice of law in all the counties of the 12th Judicial Circuit and Supreme Court of the State.

BY TELEGRAPH.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, June 1.—About one o'clock this morning, an unknown party using a slung shot, assaulted E. C. Hancock, of the Herald, at the corner of Gravier and Camp streets.

Governor McRae has issued an address to the people of Louisiana, advising acquiescence in the Kellogg case, and all Congress assemblies in December.

VIRGINIA.

RICHMOND, June 1.—A special to the Dispatch, reports the murder of a negro, by a white man, resulting from an altercation about seven cents. The murderer is jailed.

IOWA.

DES MOINES, June 1.—A young man, supposed to be young Benedict, son of the Kansas murderer, was arrested in West Liberty, Iowa, today, and a woman, thought to be his wife, was arrested yesterday, and taken to the jail. There seems to be little doubt as to their identity. Both of the parties are held for further developments.

GEORGIA.

MACON, June 2.—The body of Charles Boswell, who disappeared two months ago, has been found. He hanged himself on top of a high tree, while drunk.

VIRGINIA.

RICHMOND, June 2.—Specials from Suffolk, Va., state that Mrs. Dempsey Jones and her sister Miss Dowler, living nine miles from that place, were murdered yesterday, and the bodies found in a field. The bodies were found in a field, and the bodies were found in a field.

ILLINOIS.

PEORIA, June 2.—Five slaves burned. Agitation loss $25,000.

BALTIMORE, June 2.—Five persons for murder and for rape, are waiting the death sentence in this State. Three are white and three are black.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. June 4.

Stewart's Boot and Shoe Factory burned, loss $60,000; falling walls destroyed each section of the Bridge over Genesee River.

WASHINGTON, June 4.

A carpet and yarn mill near Norwich, Ct. burned. Twenty persons are out of employment.

No Southerners were hurt on the railroad accident near Hamilton, Ontario.

RICHMOND, Va., June 4.

Jim Brown, the alleged murderer of the two old ladies, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Dosier, near Suffolk, was captured last night and jailed today. He confessed to the sheriff that he beat his victims to death with a bill of wood, and then robbed the house. He informed the sheriff where the stolen money was concealed. The feeling against him is intense, and it is more than probable he will be lynched.

Horace Venable, negro, who murdered knocking her in the canal, is convicted of murder in the first degree.

A large fire is raging at River Point, Rhode Island.

Ex-President JEFFERSON DAVIS

who is an honorary member of the Mobile cadets, has sent $10 to the company to assist in erecting their monument to their Confederate dead.

The Huntsville Advocate of May 16 learns that the worms are playing havoc with the cotton in various portions of the country.

John Brown & Sons, cotton mill 8th and Mountain streets, Philadelphia, burned. Loss $250,000. Three hundred employes are thrown out of work.

When you see a dead man in the road, with long hair, no underclothing, and his boots run down at the heels, you may be confident it is a newspaper man, murdered for his money.

The Jamestown News of 20th inst., states that the Hon. Robert G. Brickett of Huntsville, "has been appointed by Governor Lewis Supreme Court Judge in the place of Judge Peck, resigned."

Mr. Brickett is a lawyer of much ability, and his appointment, if we are not mistaken, will be highly acceptable to the Bar and the people.

The Atlanta Sun having displayed the likeness of a Modoc squaw for Miss Susan Eberhart, now does up "Shack Nasty Jim," and attempts to bully its readers into the belief that it is a correct likeness of Governor Smith.

I would not live always!

I ask not to stay—

Where old friends do taunt me

About that back pay!

For it denudes my comfort,

And shakes my belief

In the growing affection

Folks have for relief.

The Greenville Advocate says the new law defining exemption of property which we shall publish next week will "be read with wonder and disgust by future generations," and that it is "a blot on the Christian civilization of the age."

The Advocate favors exemption that will secure "wives and children against immediate want, and not, as now, a sum which, for the times, might be considered a respectable competency."

SOUTHERN MAILS.—A Washington special in the New York Tribune of Tuesday, says:

The Postmaster General said today that he intends at once to begin improvements looking to the furnishing of the people of the South with better mail facilities than ever before. To this end he will endeavor to make the postal car service first-class, and to increase, and in some cases to double the service in the Southern States.

In the latest intelligence from Peru is a brief statement to the effect that of the 80,354 coolies shipped from Macao to Peru during the past twelve years, 3,327 perished from shipwreck, and 5 per cent. of the whole from suicide or sickness. This is a frightful story of humanity and woe. Is it not time that the attention of the civilized world were directed to this abominable traffic? More insidiously and artfully managed than the African slave trade, it is quite as brutal and horrible.

There is no paper received into our sanctum with more earnest welcome than THE MOBILE REGISTER. It is ably edited by Hon. John Forsyth, as editor-in-chief, assisted by Prof. J. P. Stelle, editor of the agricultural department. Of the first named gentleman we need not speak, but of the other, who is not so widely known, we may state that he is a practical farmer, a thorough scientific agriculturist, a plain and pleasant writer, and that he makes THE WEEKLY REGISTER one of the best farm papers published. Terms, $3 a year. A series of sprightly letters, by Mrs. Mary C. West, going through the agricultural department, are worth far more than the price of the paper.

(Published by Request.)

Meeting of Board of Trade.

MONTGOMERY, ALA. June 2, 1873.

The Board of Trade of the City of Montgomery met pursuant to adjournment at 4 o'clock p. m., and was called to order by the Vice President M. P. Lett.

The resignation of A. Strassburger, as President, was read by the Secretary of the Board and unanimously accepted.

A. F. Mosby introduced the following preamble and resolutions, which, after much discussion were withdrawn:

Whereas, The Commercial integrity and honor of a city, and its reputation abroad for the fair and upright dealing of its business men, is a matter of vital importance to them, and one which may directly affect the credit, and standing of each in the great commercial centers where a man's honor forms a chief portion of his capital in trade; and Whereas, The defense lately set up in the recent litigation between a cotton and commission firm in New York and an active member of this Board, involves principles which are calculated to cast obumbrance and discredit upon the fair fame of our merchants, unless repudiated by them, we deem it but just and proper to give expression to our sentiments on the subject: Therefore,

Resolved, That we, the members of the Board of Trade of Montgomery, declare that as parties who speculate in cotton, and who are interested in the purchase or sale of cotton, or other produce, or articles of merchandise, do so with the hope and expectation of gain; intending to demand, receive and appropriate the profits should any such defense should have been set up by a member of this body, and that we have no sympathy with it, and utterly repudiate and denounce it.

Resolved, That the said member setting up the defense in the case above referred to, in view of the foregoing, has forfeited his claim to our confidence, and that we do not deem him a fit person to participate in the deliberations of this body.

H. C. Sample, Esq., then offered as a substitute the following resolution, which was, with a few dissenting votes, passed:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Board, that all contracts for the sale or purchase of cotton or other merchandise for future delivery, shall be performed in good faith, whether the law would enforce the contracts or not; and that without expressing any opinion as to the legality or illegality of such contracts, this Board feel it to be its duty to denounce the repudiation of such contracts, placing them on the footing of all others, so long as they are of almost universal practice, in commercial communities.

The name of Mr. J. F. Campbell, the two resolutions were ordered to be printed with the minutes of this meeting, in the city papers.

Resolved, That the Executive Committee be instructed to make a sufficient assessment on the rate of all members to pay the liabilities of the Board of Trade, and that no resignation be accepted until such assessment shall be paid as well as all other arrears of the members of this meeting.

After which the Board adjourned.

M. P. LEITCH, Vice-President.

E. G. TATUM, Secretary.

A Social Monstrosity.

The preponderance of women over men, in New England, has long been a matter of comment—sometimes of jest and sometimes of concern, in accordance with the disposition of the speaker. But this social fact, which is of a serious aspect in regard to the future of the Eastern States, has suddenly developed a phase which the wildest theorist never suspected.

One hundred and sixty women of Lowell, described as "respectable," have petitioned the Legislature of Massachusetts to legalize polygamy, to the extent of allowing a man to take a second wife whenever he can obtain the consent of the first. This latter provision indicates a marvellous, and we imagine, a misplaced confidence in female humanity. The men who never bring into the house hold a second "better-half" until the original possessors of that title give their consent, are likely to remain monogamists as long as human nature remains as it is.

Appleton's Journal.

A scheme is now on foot for running a tunnel through the Rocky Mountains. This may seem a prodigious enterprise at first to the casual reader, but the parties who have the matter in hand are sanguine of the most complete success.

The idea is to tunnel the mountains from a point about one mile below Black Hawk to the Middle Park, running in a northwesterly direction. The tunnel to be run will, it is presumed, cut many rich veins of gold and silver, and thus a great mining interest be developed. Money for the prosecution of the work is furnished by capitalists, who are sanguine of the ultimate success of the enterprise. Some idea of the magnitude of the task may be gathered from the fact that the tunnel, if completed, will be 12 miles in length. It is intended to make it large enough to be used for railway purposes, and so, if a road is ever to be constructed to the Middle Park, it will find the most convenient route through the tunnel. It will be called the Sierra Madre Tunnel Company, and the incorporation papers for its organization have already been filed.

A CHEAP HOME.

I will sell the House and Lot (where I now live) The Lot contains two acres, enclosed with new sawed fencing, one and a half acre in clover of second year's growth; an excellent well of never failing water, curbed to the top with stone. The dwelling is new, nicely painted, contains six rooms; in the yard a dry well or dairy with brick floor and walls, with handsome flower yard in front of the house. A rich vegetable garden in rear of the house. The improvements are new and good.

The health of the community is unsurpassed. The scenery is beautiful around, mountains being in full view. Church and School facilities good. Parties from the low country in search of health, visit to the well to stop and see, as I am determined to sell.

POETRY.

The Newsboy's Debt.
BY M. R. HUDSON.

"Sir, if you please, my brother Jim—
The one you gave the bill you know—
He could not bring the money, Sir,
Because his back was hurt so."

"He didn't mean to keep the 'change';
He got run over, up the street;
One wheel went right across his back,
And 't'other fore-wheel mashed his feet."

"They stopped the horses just in time,
And then they took him up for dead,
And all that day and yesterday
He was at right in his head."

"They took him to the hospital—
One of the newsboys knew 'was Jim;
And I went too because you see,
We two are brothers, I and him."

"He had that money in his hand,
And never saw it any more.
Indeed, he didn't mean to steal
He never lost a cent before!"

"He was afraid that you might think
He meant to keep it, any way;
This morning when they brought him to,
He cried because he couldn't pay."

"He made me fetch his jacket hither;
It's torn and dirtied pretty bad;
It's only fit to sell for rags,
But then you know, it's all he had!"

"When he gets well—it won't be long—
If you will call the money lent,
He says he'll work his fingers off
But what he'll pay you every cent."

And then he cast a rueful glance
At the soiled jacket where it lay.
"No, no, my boy! Take back the coat,
Your brother's badly hurt, you say?"

"Where did they take him? Just run out
And call a cab, then wait for me.
Why, I would give a thousand coats,
And pounds for such a boy as he!"

A half hour after this we stood
Together in the crowded ward,
And the nurse checked the hasty steps
That fell too loudly on the boards.

I thought him smiling in his sleep,
And scarce believed her when she said,
Smoothing away the tangled hair
From brow and cheek, "The boy is dead."

Dead? dead so soon? How fair he looked!
One streak of sunshine on his hair.
Poor lad! Well, it is warm in heaven:
No need of "change" and jackets there!

And something rising in my throat
Made it so hard for me to speak,
I turned away, and left a tear
Lying upon his sunburned cheek.

TERRIBLE AFFAIR.

ANOTHER KANSAS HORROR.
Lafayette County Boys the Chief Actors.

A startling rumor has been in circulation for several days past, of another wholesale killing spree in Kansas, in which some of our countrymen were said to have been killed. The report says that a few weeks since, five young men from the Texas Prairie region started west in search of fortunes or adventures. They stopped in a Kansas town. Went into a saloon, and called for liquor. While they were drinking, a nigger entered, and walking up to the bar beside them, proceeded to "name his poison." Unaccustomed to this style of mixture, and better than any they had ever heard of, they seized the Ethiopian man and brudder and cast him into outer darkness, considerably the worse for wear. The colored citizen rose in the night and made a journey of several miles, and returned, making a strong party of his sale and savory kinsmen; and returning, made a fierce attack upon the offending Missourians. In the melee, three tarry hided step-children of the American eagle, whose house it is the saying, turned up their toes, and forever ceased to perspire bergamot and cologne. Three dead niggers, in a Kansas village. The alarm was given. John Brown's ghost flitted, shrieking like a night-hawk for vengeance, through the loyal streets. The sheriff with a strong posse, charged upon our young countrymen, to arrest them. They resisted desperately. Two of the would-be arresters were slain. And leaving five dead foes on the field—one a piece—the quintet of young Lafayette Modocs made their escape.

Such is the story as it comes to us from one of the most reliable citizens of our country. We hope it may prove unfounded, but for the moment, the names of the five young desperadoes have been given us, but we withhold them, till further advice confirm or contradict the appalling rumor.

LATER!

Whole story confirmed, but with these corrections:—The young men were attacked by an immense mob of niggers and not by a sheriff's posse. A desperate battle ensued. Five niggers were killed and several wounded. One of the young Lafayette was shot near the snail of the back; but all escaped.

Wants Him Dead or Alive.

Under the heading, "Strayed or stolen," Mrs. Susan Humbley, of Shelby's farm, Wythe County, advertises her husband Andrew Jackson Humbley in the Enterprise. She says he left her about two months ago, in company with one Mauda Wyrick, she believes, "counseled or lured," him by giving him a cup of coffee to drink, upon the top of which he saw a blue glass swimming. They were accompanied by her son, "Bos" who left a wife and three children. The deserted matron says: "I want A. J. arrested and handcuffed, if necessary, and brought back to me dead or alive as he owes a good many debts that he must pay, and he owes me a support in my old age. He is supposed to have gone to Tennessee, or Iowa, or out West. He is a long, lank fellow, about 6 feet high, broad shoulders, thin beard light hair and complexion, blue eyes, and about 45 years of age (being about 20 years younger than myself.)" She offers anybody a fair price, who will turn him to her "dead or alive," and requests all papers in the United States to copy the advertisement one time and forward their bills to her.

DIED OF SNAKE-BITE.

A negro boy, eighteen years old, in the employ of J. M. Kimbrough, seven miles south of Hamilton, Harris County, went fishing on the 18th inst., and was bitten on the finger by a moccasins snake, from which he died on the 20th inst. A physician was called to him eighteen hours after the bite and found him in a comatose condition, talking incoherently. The doctor says he frequently blew like an adder, protruded his tongue and struck at every one within his reach—always striking at anything he bit at. He would seize the bed clothing and shake it, and in every way imitate the actions of a snake.—Hamilton Visitor.

Ed. L. Woodward, agent for the sale of McCroskey's Celebrated Flour, Meal and Cow Feed.

It will be seen that Ed. L. Woodward has received a Fresh Lot of McCroskey's excellent Flour and Meal, the best we think ever brought to the place—at least we know it is the best we have ever purchased, and at lower prices.

Charlie Alexander has some of the finest cigars ever brought into this State.

The Re-union of the 10th Alabama Regiment is the 8th day of August next. Will publish particulars next week.

Mr. Jones' tomato vines are growing with a perfect whoop.

The junior editor has been sick in bed nearly every day of this week.

One of our citizens has discovered a new manner of top dressing tomatoes, that is said to work a great improvement on the vines.

There is said to have been a great bustle observed among the vegetation of one of our best citizens, early one morning this week, caused, it is thought, by the presence of some of his wicked neighbors.

W. T. & C. S. Alexander has just received the finest lot of Cigars ever brought to Jacksonville. Little Ula, Young Sport, Mocking Bird.

Attention is invited to the dissolution notice of the old and widely known law firm of Ellis & Caldwell. Col. Caldwell, the retiring member of the firm, abandons the practice of law, for the present, to better discharge the duties of the office to which the people of the Fifth Congressional District have called him. That he will discharge those duties faithfully and conscientiously, no one who knows him can doubt; that he may be able the better to discharge them, he throws off during his term of office the cares of his profession. However, as indicated in the dissolution notice, he will, jointly with Col. Ellis, give attention to those matters entrusted to them as a firm. To Col. Ellis, while playing his "lone hand" we wish deserved prosperity.

Quite a thunder and rain storm last Thursday. Gov. Davis thought at one time the lightning had struck him, and came near stampeding.

We will give brother Sorsby, of Birmingham, room to defend his clerk next week. He only takes two pages and a half to do it in.

A man never knows how much he loves his sweet-heart, until he thinks some other fellow has got her—"Blessings brighten as they take their flight." No personal application. Our fighting man is out of town.

The undersigned having completely remodeled and thoroughly repaired the

situated two and a half miles south of Jacksonville, is now prepared to make flour of the finest quality, and as much to the bushel, according to grade, as any mill in the County. Very superior meal constantly on hand. Satisfaction guaranteed. Parties who have grinding to be done can be accommodated at any time.

A. O. STEWART.
We invite attention to the advertisement of Mr. A. O. Stewart. He is the owner of the most excellent mills and gives the whole his personal supervision. His meal and flour has gained quite a reputation. The mill is very convenient to Jacksonville and should be largely patronized. We can assure parties who may patronize Mr. Stewart that the fullest satisfaction will be rendered. Our merchants ought to purchase fresh meal from him instead of sending West for it.

Our young friend Quitman Read, one of the promising young men of Calhoun County, son of Rev. E. T. Read, left for West Point on the 20th inst. We learn that he has already passed the physical examination. That he will pass the second and more difficult one, no one acquainted with the mental calibre and acquirements of the young man can doubt. He is of the stuff that good soldiers are made of and we predict for him a brilliant future.

LUMBER! LUMBER!!
Col. Farr has 250,000 feet of lumber, of all sorts, sizes and qualities, with prices to suit. He will sell on time. No excuse for dilapidated houses and fences. Act wise, and buy your lumber while you can get it at your doors, at low prices, and build up the waste places, and keep old mulie out of the garden.

BARBERS.
Barbers and hair-dressers everywhere who use the LeCroix Hair Restorer pronounce it the finest hairdressing they have ever used. It is a great favorite everywhere, for its cleanliness and elegant perfume. It will restore gray hair by natural means, and give the hair a vigorous and rich growth.

READ THE EVIDENCE.
Thomas Beaumont, barber, of Clarksburg, Tennessee, has had abundant opportunity of witnessing the effect of the Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer, as used by his customers. He says it has proved very successful, pleasing, in every case, all who use it.

SO GENERAL has the public confidence become in Dr. Ayer's medicines, and so great the demand for them, that unprincipled villains are attempting to deceive the unwary by imposing upon them their worthless nostrums under a similarity of name. Cherry Pectoral Lozenges, Dr. Ayer's Troches, Ayer's Pills for Coughs, Cherry Pectoral Cough Drops, Ayer's Fever and Ague Cure, Dr. Ayer's Indian Pills, &c. &c. (none of which are of Dr. Ayer's manufacture or composition) are specimens of this villainy and deceit. They not only defraud the sick of their money but of their health, or the recovery of their health, which is far more important than money. From actual counterfeits the people are protected by law which the Doctor promptly enforces, but these occasions sometimes elude the law, and purchasers must protect themselves by refusing to be deceived by them.

It. Dover (N. H.) Bee.

The patriarchs took no mercury, no bismuth, no iodine, no bromide of potassium, no strychnia, no quinine. Happy old gentlemen they did not even know of the existence of these "specifics," and yet they lived until it seemed as if Death had forgotten them. Their medicines were herbs and roots. They have left this fact on record, and it is returning to the first principles of medicine. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the purest and most efficacious vegetable restorative of the age, is also the best. Thousands of persons who only a few years ago believed implicitly in all the poisons which figure in the pharmacopoeia, now pronounce the "patent" tonic and alterative an all-potent remedy, for dyspepsia, nervous debility, constipation, bilious complaints, headache, intermittent fevers, and all the ordinary disturbances of the stomach, the liver, the discharging organs and the brain. The time is not far distant when the most powerful and venomous drugs now so recklessly administered by practitioners of the "heroic" school in cases that might easily be controlled by milder treatment, will be utterly discarded by all philosophical physicians. As it is to the thinking public, who are generally ahead of the professionals, have already put the dangerous preparation aside and adopted Hostetter's Bitters in their stead as a safe and effective household medicine, adapted to all needs, of almost all ages, and of both sexes, and of all climes, and of all seasons, and of all degrees of disease. For more than twenty years this famous restorative has held up the public confidence, and it now takes the lead of every advertised medicine manufactured in this country.

THE "RURAL CAROLINIAN" for June, comes to us with its usual regularity, its pages teeming with well selected matter of more than ordinary interest to agriculturists. The publishers seem determined to fully maintain its justly earned reputation as a first class agricultural publication, and are deserving of success for their praiseworthy efforts in their laudable undertaking, which not only conduces to individual success, but aids materially in the development of our resources and wealth as a nation. No planter or farmer should be without the "Rural Carolinian," if he desires success in his vocation. The terms are reasonable, being only $2 per annum for single subscriptions, with liberal inducements for clubs.

Beyond the Mississippi.
Thousands have already gone, and thousands more are turning their eyes towards new homes in the fertile West. To those going to Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada, Oregon or California, we recommend a safe quick and direct route, via St. Louis, over the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which runs its line day coaches and Pullman Sleepers from St. Louis to principal points in the West, without change. We believe that the Missouri Pacific Railroad has the best track and the finest and safest equipment of any line west of the Mississippi, and its connections with roads further West are prompt and reliable. The Texas connection of this road is now completed, and any passengers are offered a first class Pullman Sleeper from St. Louis to either the Missouri, Kansas & Texas R. R. via Sedalia, or over the Atlantic & Pacific R. R. via Vinita. For maps, time tables, information as to rates, routes, etc., we refer you to J. F. Thompson, Southern Passenger Agent, Chattanooga, Tenn., or to J. A. Ford, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis. Mo. questions will be cheerfully and promptly answered.

Emigration Turning.

Cheap Farms in South-west Missouri.
The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company offers 1,200,000 acres of land in Central and Southwest Missouri, at from $3 to $12 per acre, on seven years, time with free transportation from St. Louis to all schools, churches and law-abiding settlers, and emigrants from all points to this land of fruits and flowers. For particulars address, A. Tuck, Land Commissioner, St. Louis, Mo.

When you see a dead man in the road, with long hair, no underclothing, and his boots run down at the heels, you may be confident it is a newspaper man, murdered for his money.

The Jamestown News of 20th inst., states that the Hon. Robert G. Brickell of Huntsville, "has been appointed by Governor Lewis Supreme Court Judge in the place of Judge Peck, resigned." Mr. Brickell is a lawyer of much ability, and his appointment, if we are not mistaken, will be highly acceptable to the Bar and the people.

The Greenville Advocate says the new law defining exemption of property which we shall publish next week will "be read with wonder and disgust by future generations," and that it is "a blot on the Christian civilization of the age." The Advocate favors exemption that will secure "wives and children against immediate want, and not, as now, a sum which, for the times, might be considered a respectable competency."

SOUTHERN MAILS.—A Washington special in the New York Tribune of Tuesday, says:

The Postmaster General said today that he intends at once to begin improvements looking to the furnishing of the people of the South with better mail facilities than ever before. To this end he will endeavor to make the postal car service first-class, and to increase, and in some cases to double the service in the Southern States.

In the latest intelligence from Peru is a brief statement to the effect that of the 80,354 coolies shipped from Macao to Peru during the past twelve years, 3,327 perished from shipwreck, and 5 per cent. of the whole from suicide or sickness. This is a frightful story of humanity and woe. Is it not time that the attention of the civilized world were directed to this abominable traffic? More insidiously and artfully managed than the African slave trade, it is quite as brutal and horrible.

There is no paper received into our sanctum with more earnest welcome than THE MOBILE REGISTER. It is ably edited by Hon. John Forsyth, as editor-in-chief, assisted by Prof. J. P. Stelle, editor of the agricultural department. Of the first named gentleman we need not speak, but of the other, who is not so widely known, we may state that he is a practical farmer, a thorough scientific agriculturist, a plain and pleasant writer, and that he makes THE WEEKLY REGISTER one of the best farm papers published. Terms, $3 a year. A series of sprightly letters, by Mrs. Mary C. West, going through the agricultural department, are worth far more than the price of the paper.

Meeting of Board of Trade.

MONTGOMERY, ALA. June 2, 1873.

The Board of Trade of the City of Montgomery met pursuant to adjournment at 4 o'clock p. m., and was called to order by the Vice President M. P. LeGrand.

The resignation of A. Strassburger, as President, was read by the Secretary of the Board and unanimously accepted. A. F. Mosberry introduced the following preamble and resolutions, which, after much discussion were withdrawn:—
Whereas, The Commercial integrity and honor of a city, and its reputation abroad for the fair and upright dealing of its business men, is a matter of vital importance to them, and one which may directly affect the credit, and standing of each in the great commercial centers where a man's honor forms a chief portion of his capital in trade; and Whereas, The defense lately set up in the recent litigation between a cotton and commission firm in New York and an active member of this Board, involves principles which are calculated to cast obumbrance and discredit upon the fair fame of our merchants, unless repudiated by them, we deem it but just and proper to give expression to our sentiments on the subject: Therefore,

Resolved, That we, the members of the Board of Trade of Montgomery, declare that as parties who speculate in cotton, and who are interested in the purchase or sale of cotton, or other produce, or articles of merchandise, do so with the hope and expectation of gain; intending to demand, receive and appropriate the profits should any such defense should have been set up by a member of this body, and that we have no sympathy with it, and utterly repudiate and denounce it.

Resolved, That the said member setting up the defense in the case above referred to, in view of the foregoing, has forfeited his claim to our confidence, and that we do not deem him a fit person to participate in the deliberations of this body.

H. C. Sample, Esq., then offered as a substitute the following resolution, which was, with a few dissenting votes, passed:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Board, that all contracts for the sale or purchase of cotton or other produce for future delivery, shall be performed in good faith, whether the law would enforce the contracts or not; and that without expressing any opinion as to the legality or illegality of such contracts, this Board feel it to be its duty to denounce the repudiation of such contracts, placing them on the footing of all others, so long as they are of almost universal practice, in commercial communities.

A Social Monstrosity.
The preponderance of women over men, in New England, has long been a matter of comment—sometimes of jest and sometimes of concern, in accordance with the disposition of the speaker. But this social fact, which is of a serious aspect in regard to the future of the Eastern States, has suddenly developed a phase which the wildest theorist never suspected.

One hundred and sixty women of Lowell, described as "respectable," have petitioned the Legislature of Massachusetts to legalize polygamy, to the extent of allowing a man to take a second wife whenever he can obtain the consent of the first. This latter provision indicates a marvellous, and we imagine, a misplaced confidence in female humanity. The men who never bring into the household a second "better-half" until the original possessors of that title give their consent, are likely to remain monogamists as long as human nature remains as it is.

Appleton's Journal.

A scheme is now on foot for running a tunnel through the Rocky Mountains. This may seem a prodigious enterprise at first to the casual reader, but the parties who have the matter in hand are sanguine of the most complete success. The idea is to tunnel the mountains from a point about one mile below Black Hawk to the Middle Park, running in a northwesterly direction. The tunnel to be run will, it is presumed, cut many rich veins of gold and silver, and thus a great mining interest be developed. Money for the prosecution of the work is furnished by capitalists, who are sanguine of the ultimate success of the enterprise. Some idea of the magnitude of the task may be gathered from the fact that the tunnel, if completed, will be 12 miles in length. It is intended to make it large enough to be used for railway purposes, and so, if a road is ever to be constructed to the Middle Park, it will find the most convenient route through the tunnel. It will be called the Sierra Madre Tunnel Company, and the incorporation papers for its organization have already been filed.

Sensible Poetry.

Many persons have very little taste for poetry, but we most sincerely hope that our subscribers will read the following, which we clip from an exchange and send.

We wish more could do so with freedom from any misgivings on account of conscience.

"Should you ask us why this dunning Why these sad complaints and murmurs, Murmurs loud about delinquents, Who have read the paper weekly, Read what they have never paid for, Read with pleasure and with profit, Read of church affairs and prospects, Read of news both home and foreign, Read the essays and the poems, Full of wisdom and instruction, Read the table of the markets

Carefully corrected weekly, Should you ask us why this dunning From the printer, from the mailer, From the kind of old paper maker, From the landlord and the carrier, From the man who takes letters, With a stamp from Uncle Samuel— Uncle Sam the postman call him— From them all there comes a message

Message kind, but firmly spoken: "Please to pay us what you owe us." Said it is to let us know, When our friends are all exhausted, When the last bank note has left us, When the gold coin all has vanished,

Gone to pay the paper-maker, Gone to pay the tolling printer, Gone to pay the landlord tribute, Gone to pay the faithful carrier, Gone to pay the urgent mailer, Gone to pay old Uncle Samuel— Uncle Sam the postman call him—

Gone to pay the new-type-maker, Throes and twenty hundred dollars.

Said it is to our ledger— "Turn the leaves of this old ledger, Turn and see what sums are due us: Due for volumes long since ended, Due for years of pleasant readings, Due for years of toilsome labor, Due despite our constant dunning, Due in sums from two to twenty.

Would you lift a burden from us? Would you drive a spade from you? Would you taste a pleasant slumber? Would you have a quiet conscience? Would you have a paper paid for? Send us money! Send us money! Send us money! Send us money! Send the money that you owe us!"

A Monstrous Confession.

Joseph Waltz, The Murderer of the Scissors Grinder—A Very Remarkable Document, Written by the Murderer, and Published by the Criminal—A Study for the Metaphysicians.

Correspondence of the Sun.

CATSKILL, N. Y., June 7.—On the night of May 1, Harmon Holcher, a scissors grinder, of Albany, was murdered near this city. About the 15th ult. Joseph Waltz was arrested, charged with the crime. He is a tall, muscular young man of about 23 years. He has long, light hair, slight beard and whiskers of the same color, and clear blue eyes. He has been indicted by the Grand Jury, and his trial has been set for the December term. The following is a copy of the confession, written by himself:

JOSEPH WALTZ TO THE PUBLIC.

HOUSE OF BONDAGE, May 23, '73.

MY DEAR OFFENDER AND EXCITED FRIENDS: I beg leave to have some reconciliation with you in order that you may no longer be in any doubt of my truthfulness in regard to the terrible, shocking, and infamous deed that I was forced by some mysterious power to do. You were already informed of the principal and most important causes of all this agitation; but it was an impossibility for me or any one else to explain to you the truth, to wit: that at the same time most indispensable details.

One day in January last it seemed to me that there were a great many people on earth who were constantly risking their life and reputation in swindling, robbing, and deceiving their fellow-creatures for various reasons and causes. Since that day it seemed to me as if something had planted itself in my mind, that kept urging me forward to perform some grand, heroic and enterprising feat, whether good or bad I could not say.

THE EVIL SPIRIT AT WORK.

I tried to forget it, but it was ever before me. I began to lose much interest in my daily occupation, and the great appetite for learning and knowledge, and wisdom, which I had as a child, was now turned to something wholly out of the common course. About two days after this I could no longer do without causing some commotion or excitement. That very night of the third day I began my first robbery!

I arose from bed at about one o'clock a. m. and went out of doors. It was warm, but very windy. I went to my room again, but could not think of going to bed; I wanted very much to rouse up something or somebody who would suddenly thought came to surprise and cause trouble to some one. I thought of going over to the house of my nearest neighbor, Jas. B. Goetzlich, and throw large stones at the door of his house and window, when another thought flashed across me, to go to the toll gate about half a mile off, and do something of the kind there.

WALTZ'S FIRST ROBBERY.

I put on my boots, and started for the latter in all haste. As I arrived near the place, I began to lose much of my courage, and sat down on a snow bank for some time thinking. I was about to get up and go home, and leave all in peace, when I thought of the red school house a short distance further off; my courage returned, and I was there in a few minutes. I entered a window at the east side, and found the stove red hot and the room very warm; this frightened me, thinking there might be some one dwelling in the school house. However, I entered at last, and what I did there you all know. I had just finished books at home of my own, and could have no use for them. The reason that

I took them was simply to rouse and excite the pupils and teacher.

Seeing all remain quiet, I did the same deed over again a short time after, this time leaving a note there containing remarks such as threatening their life, and using very profane language. Peace still continued, and I was not satisfied. This yearning and tempting was incessant. About a month afterward I started on another burglarious expedition. I entered it, forcing open a blind on the south side, about 2 o'clock a. m. By this time I began to feel some sorrow for these cruel acts; and began to read some of the most pious and best of the library books I had thus obtained by theft. These were, in the main, good ones, and having read the first one through, I began to realize and perceive my great wickedness. I was much comforted, and read several more with good result. But I could not feel easy. I next broke open and robbed the school house on the Athens road and the one at Locusts.

After that I wanted to repent, and was about to confess my crimes to the Rev. Father O'Driscoll and Mr. A. M. Osborn, a Catholic lawyer, when I saw the following in the Catskill Recorder, which was probably the reason that I lost all desire to make an open confession of my guilt, for it was stated in such a singular and exciting manner that it seemed to relieve me of my sorrow and distress and rouse up the old desire to do further mischief.

"The school house in Locusts was broken open on Tuesday night, and in the morning the scissors grinder, who was in the furniture, maps, &c. were found piled promiscuously on the floor. A letter was left stating the determination to commit depredations—said they had commenced at the small school house on the Athens road (the one that was located near the toll gate) and would next be in the way West, &c. They claim to be in the service of Belial—and no doubt are right there."

As a counter-irritant I then read the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth chapters of St. Matthew, and retired to my night's rest, much relieved of my uneasiness, but my great sin could never be hidden or dropped from my mind, and a spark of the intense desire to perform some unnatural exploit was still smouldering in my brains.

THE SCISSOR GRINDER.

About the last of April we were visited by an old friend of ours from Albany, who went about sometimes in the Spring as a scissors grinder. He was an honest, upright man, respected by all who knew him. We gladly invited him on this evening to supper, and that he could pass the night with us. After supper we had kept up a pleasant and lively conversation, and were all in good spirits, as is usually the case with true friends, that have not seen each other for a long time; and in this way that evening passed.

We showed our friend to bed on a sofa, on which were placed some quilts and blankets for a covering. My parents and I had scarcely finished our supper, when I heard a loud noise, and saw the only one up, and sat down by the table and read for about half an hour, when I felt sleepy and was about to enter my room, when suddenly I was aroused from all sleepiness by this strong sensation in my mind, expecting some unusual or supernatural and inhuman juggle. The power was much stronger and more sudden than I had experienced it before. I wanted to relieve myself of it, but I was utterly helpless. I began to become very hot, my ears were ringing and my heart beat very hard and quick for a short time, and the hair on my head seemed to be standing upright. All this lasted hardly a minute, when I began to become cool again, and everything was very quiet. I took up a small Testament and began to read, but I had scarcely finished the first verse when some violent and electric force swept past my face. It was like a flash of lightning if it could have been directly before my eyes, and without any noise. I dropped my arm and book with a loud clap on the table, and before me lay a small, round, treble-headed little white, after which everything seemed to run into my brains. I sat a few moments on my bed in great confusion. Then I went out of doors, lamp in hand, and searched for an axe or hatchet, and went back into my room. I could think of nothing but of

STRIKING SOME ONE ON THE HEAD.

I pressed my forehead against a pane of glass, thinking the sudden cold would have some effect in producing a different sensation, but all in vain. I turned down the lamp very low, took up the book and read a few verses of my friend, the scissors grinder, was sleeping soundly. I placed the lamp on the floor directly below his head. I then cautiously bent over him to see in what position his head lay. I took the hatchet, and raised it up to the height of the ceiling. I was about to turn away and leave the man in peace, when I was again seized by the demon, and was forced to raise the hatchet and give the fatal blow; but it seemed as if the strength and force of the blow that I was about to impart in the head of the peaceful sleeper had all entered into the handle of the hatchet. I withheld the blow, took up the lamp and hatchet and went back to my own room, greatly troubled in mind and spirit. I was about to give a loud scream, but I had no strength for it. I sat there as helpless as a babe, when all at once a painful thrill or sting pierced my heart and brains and roused me up like a maniac. I took the lamp and hatchet up once more and entered the room of the sleeping man, placing the lamp where I did before, and quickly, but my heart failed me. My forehead became wet with perspiration and I stood there, in delirium, swinging the hatchet up and down above the head of the man, when at length I struck the man on the forehead. But the blow seemed to have no force as I dealt it. He breathed with a deep voice, and doubting of its fatality I struck him twice with the cutting part of the hatchet, not knowing for certain where I hit him, and sank fainting and senseless on the floor. When consciousness returned I beheld the dire scene, the man

gled body, the pools of blood, and the awful thought of murder, I sank back again with a feeling of pain and horror. I then wanted to go off and cast myself into a bottomless gulf and bury myself out of sight of the world. With these thoughts I walked back and forth in the rain in a very confused and deranged manner for some time; then with a fierce and energetic perception in mind and body, I went to the dismal room, took up

carried it out and laid it down beside a low stone fence. I then wrapped the body in the blanket, and laid many small flat stones around it to conceal it, I slipped a short prayer, and departed to the house. There I began to clear off all traces of blood, and was soon in bed, coat, hat, &c. off under the part.

The machine I also carried off and placed behind a fence in the bushes, and covered it up with brush and stones. I then went to bed, but in five minutes my parents came down, and began their work as usual. I got up again, and went to the barn to help feed the stock, when father asked me what it was that he heard some time in the night, as if some one were gurgling or breathing with

SOMETHING IN THE THROAT.

I told him that I heard it, too, but that I could not guess what it was, and that it was probably the habit of this man to do something of the kind, as he told us the previous evening of his having a bad cold. And now the thought came to me of my wicked life and of having thus deceived my good, honest father.

The season grinder was soon with me, and we found faint traces of blood about the floor and on one of the blankets, when my parents became greatly excited, and when they found the blankets, quilts and pillow missing, they were astonished beyond measure. They looked at my father and found me in equal surprise. They then thought that this bad man had taken the quilts and stuffed off with them. Father went in search of him along the road toward Athens, but he could find no trace or vestige. He had too much to do to search for him or the things. Father went to the constable. But all remained quiet, and I began to think my self clear of all suspicion.

That night I began

DIGGING A GRAVE.

In such a manner and on such a place that it would be impossible to find it again. I carried the corpse to it on a wheelbarrow. Having laid it carefully in and wrapped it in the blanket, I knelt at the end of the grave and prayed for an hour and a half to God for the protection and redemption of my soul, and for my friend whom I had thus caused to leave this world unprepared and without a last look or parting word to his loved and afflicted wife, and children, and friends. This being done I covered up the remains of my friend in great sorrow, in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, and proceeded to the house in a very broken-hearted condition. I then looked everything up in a trunk and went up to the barn again, took up the clothes and carried them down the lot and hid them. What I did then I do not know to this day, for the sun was shining and I found myself of my departed friend.

When the long and tedious day drew to a close I wrote a letter by the influence of the same visionary agent, and as usual, it was a lie, when I read it to myself. I then tried to copy it on a separate paper, but when I had it half finished I dropped to the floor with a loud ringing and sibilant sound in my head, where I must have been during the night, for in the morning I found me in the table upon the bed and myself leaning against the door with a chair over me! When I endeavored to get over I could hardly bend a finger or limb, being as rigid and inflexible as death. Thus I lay helpless until the fever thought returned to me, and I was greatly distressed and terror-stricken and overcome with sorrow and grief for having caused the untimely death of my friend and had lost all thoughts and desires of ever doing so awful and terrible a thing! After this I passed many nights sitting on the ground for my sorrow became so great, the bed and on so heavy, and my wounded spirit so restless, that I did not know half the time what I was about. I often walked off a little way, and then turned suddenly around and went back again to the spot, and wanted to do something, but never could think what.

In about two weeks

accompanied by a youth, came to our house to inquire for him. I hurried to the barn and hid myself, for I could not appear before them in such a broken-hearted condition. The following night, when all was quiet, I took everything in my trunk which belonged to the last man, and hid them at divers places. The books, &c. I placed in boxes, and buried them also. A day or two after this the search began. The officers, Dr. Bennett, Chas. Bennett, and others, finding the floor and sofa stained with blood, immediately suspected me having killed the man. I wanted to "own up," and tell them the whole truth on the spot; but I had not the courage. I began to defend myself by telling dreadful lies, that gave me much pain within that I came near fainting several times. From this time I did nothing but lie to the highest officer down, to the truest friend. "Oh! the dreadful suffering my soul received as I again denied my guilt before the venerable Justice. My dear innocent father was taken with me, for the first time in all our life in bondage. I requested of Sheriff D. P. Bennett and J. H. Meach the permission and liberty of going to the farm accompanied by my father, promising them that I would throw the full light into the whole mystery, but they coldly refused to do so."

thing of the kind, telling me that such a thing was not allowed. Afterward they let me go, but I revealed nothing at that time; but I have now told you, my friends, of this whole mournful event, and I am, by the grace of my heavenly Father, that I received through the mercy of His only begotten Son, Our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, prepared to die, and prepared to live in blessed peace.

JOSEPH WALTZ.

THE COTTON WORM.

A proposition whereby Millions of Dollars may possibly be saved to the People of the South.

BY PROFESSOR CHAS. V. RILEY.

[Read at the Second Annual Session of National Agricultural Congress.]

Gentlemen of the National Agricultural Congress.

It was my pleasure, well nigh a year ago, to be with you at your organization in the city from which I hail. Few things were more characteristic of that to me of the friends of Agriculture from different parts of our broad land, than the large representation from the South, and the mutual good-will and the cordial fellowship which reigned on all sides. There was manifested a due appreciation of scene in the hour paid to one who did much to make us masters of the elements, and whom we all sorrow for as having since left us for that world which knows no sectional strife nor brotherly feud. There was also manifested a strong desire to profit by one another's experiences, and it is for these reasons that I am led to offer, to the members of the South a suggestion which may prove of little service, or per contra, of the utmost value.

I gave you last year some idea of the immense sum which the farmers of this country lose by insect depredations, and it is unnecessary here to enlarge upon the subject. You, as cotton growers, are well enough aware of these ravages, for in a single fortnight last summer one single species—the Cotton-worm—ate up some thing like twenty million dollars' worth of cotton for us.

Some of the Northern States have been sufficiently wise and provident as to appoint officers, whose duty it is to study these insect pests, and suggest remedies by detecting some individual or community, and to make thorough investigations and experiments upon it. Up to the present time, no really practicable remedy has been discovered. Hand-picking is not wholesale enough. Fires, lights, and traps containing attractive but poisonous sweets, together with all other devices, intended to allure and destroy the parent moths, are of little use except where they can be generally employed throughout whole districts—and this implies an amount of intelligence, organization and unity of purpose rarely, if ever, found in any farming community. Carbolic soap has failed to fulfill the hopes and prophecies of its advocates. Now it has never been before to experiment a cotton field, but from experience with insecticides in other fields, I feel quite assured that by a proper use of Paris green, the Cotton-worm may be mastered.

In the so-called Northwestern States, as you are doubtless aware, we have been sorely troubled, during the past season, by the Colorado Potato-beetle (Doryphora 10-lineata), an insect which affects the potato very much in the same way as the Cotton-worm affects the cotton plant; but from which it is not likely that you of the South will ever suffer.

We manage to subvert the duty by a proper use of the mineral mentioned, and from my experience upon the leaf-devouring worms, many of them belonging to the same family as your cotton-worm, I am satisfied that this last succumb to the mixture I propose, even more readily than does the Potato-beetle.

Paris green, or Schiele's green, contains a varied proportion of arsenious acid, and it is a deadly poison; but the manner in which it may be used to counteract the Colorado beetle renders it perfectly harmless. If the green is pure, which can generally be ascertained by the brightness and intensity of the color, it may be mixed with 30 parts of flour, plaster, slacked lime, or ashes, and still be thoroughly effective.</

Furniture! Furniture!!

Encourage Home

INDUSTRY.

I would respectfully announce to the public that I have now on hand and for sale of my own manufacture, a large lot of all kinds of Furniture, including

of the best quality and make, Bureaus, Tables, Washstands, &c.

My friends will find me at my old stand making good and substantial work, which will dispose of at most reasonable and fair prices.

I will also have, in a very short time, an extensive supply of

CHAIRS.

Such as Parlor, Rocking, Children and Dining-Room Chairs.

In addition to the Stock of Furniture of my own make, I keep constantly on hand a large lot of

CASES,

THE GOLDEN AGE OF ROBBERS.

How the Reconstructed States Have Fared Under President Grant.

[From the New York Sun.]

It is difficult to impress the public mind with the extent of the spoliation, robbery and outrages to which the reconstructed States have all been subjected, or the results of these wrongs upon other portions of the country, which have succeeded to their own belated the deficient taxation of impoverished communities. The magnitude of the material losses under which they have staggered are still grasping. Some of the comparisons are made since the administration came into power, and others are necessarily contrasted by the census returns.

State debt in 1869. State debt in 1871.

Louisiana, $14,317,051 $14,104,473

South Carolina, 4,407,988 20,153,014

Arkansas, 4,036,852 10,761,226

Florida, 528,856 12,757,537

$23,329,817 $103,512,189

Deduct debt of 1869, $23,329,817

Increase in three years, $80,182,372

The population of these four States in 1870 was less by nearly half a million than the single State of Illinois, which had something more than one-half the aggregate of New York by the last census. Eighty and a half millions of debt alone were piled on the backs of two millions one hundred thousand people in the course of thirty-six months of the new despotism. But this is not the worst by any means. To appreciate the ability to bear this load, the conditions of two periods must be compared:

Acres improved. Val. imp. lands.

Louisiana, 2,707,408 $291,780,922

South Carolina, 4,407,988 136,624,048

Arkansas, 1,983,313 91,643,773

Florida, 528,856 10,436,737

Total, 9,613,651 $152,927,060

1870. 1871.

Louisiana, 2,015,610 $68,215,411

South Carolina, 3,015,529 45,573,761

Arkansas, 1,859,212 30,229,633

Florida, 729,112 9,947,500

Total, 7,609,463 $153,971,803

It is this that the area of improved land has been reduced to one-third of what it was in 1870, and the value of this property has depreciated about two hundred and ninety millions of dollars in the same decade. The immense loss of property in slaves is entirely excluded from this statement. In addition to all reason and right, taxation was increased in proportion as the ability to stand it was reduced, so as to take the oppression felt more keenly.

LOCAL TAXES.

Louisiana, $890,700 $7,606,732

South Carolina, 1,280,386 2,176,675

Arkansas, 353,393 2,336,593

Florida, 109,124 492,106

Total, $1,533,603 $13,191,403

Deduct taxation of 1869, $1,533,603

Excess of 1870, $11,657,800

The taxes in these crushed communities thus exceeded $1 a head for every man, woman and child, white and black. This is the statement of Grant with the advantage of complete power, as distinguished from constitutional government. The robbery, fraud, extortion and villainy, were committed by thieves and knaves, who were either commissioned by the President, or were sustained by his bayonets. Without that direct support and countenance, they could not have stood a day. And even after all this utter extortion, the government is supposed to have collected, and passion to be wearied with prolonged excesses, the same story is again repeated in Louisiana, with the same results. In this case, the government is set up by brute force, with troops called to New Orleans for the express purpose, and then the President intervenes officially to uphold this wretched mockery of the civil treatment, under the shameful pretence that he is detaching him, when he is only propping up an infamous usurpation.

While the immediate sufferers of this atrocious system are most numerous, the indirect effects react far more seriously than is supposed upon other parts of the country, and particularly those States whose agriculture and commerce are connected with the cotton and sugar and rice producing States over a large and valuable market for the corn, cattle, wheat, and other productions of the West. They are naturally and intimately connected in the relations of trade, and whatever obstructs the prosperity of the South, must reflect materially in the West. Every blow at Louisiana is substantially a blow at Illinois, Minnesota, and every other State with an excess of grain and meat to sell and no market or outlet for these commodities. Six or seven millions of hungry people, certain and constant consumers of Western products, more valuable by far, too, than a constant famine in Ireland would be, are denied the privilege of buying because of the partition of the South, and the resentment to keep them in poverty and distress.

This impolicy which crushes down the South and deprives the West of its best element, extends its pernicious influence still further. Emigration is now surpassing all former records, and yet it turns away from the whole South as if from the breath of pestilence. Cheap land, facilities for railroads, and every thing else that the temperate zone can offer to tempt settlement, are to be found from Delaware to Texas, and yet the emigrant shuns them all for a more inhospitable and remote region, where hardship and privations are conditions of any degree of success. While slavery existed, it was regarded as a means of civilization. Now, that all men are free and equal, emigration is even more dreaded than before to connect its destiny and constant with the degraded South.

It is obvious to the least intelligent.

Suffocated in a Gasometer.

Eastport, Me., June 10.—A sad accident occurred here this morning at the gas works. Repairs were to be made, and a young man named Hiram Lawrence went down into the gasometer to test off the water. The gas overcame him, and he fell from the ladder into the water. His brother Edward went down to get him out and he too was suffocated and fell. Another lowered down, but had to be drawn up immediately, injured and nearly dead. Two more were taken out, and now lie in a precarious condition. The other two were dead when taken out. Edward leaves a wife and four children. Hiram was recently married.

Within two weeks, Boston has had a fire destroying $1,250,000 worth of property, Chicago, $250,000 worth; Cincinnati, $175,000; Burlington, Iowa, $75,000; and the Hyde Park Wool Mills, Mass., $600,000, to say nothing of smaller fires.

The Story of Rodgers.

From the New York Tribune.

One of our family papers preaches a strong temperance sermon by simply telling the Story of a woman who after struggling with the premeditated strength of a living wife and mother for years against the demon of drink that possessed her husband, conquered it, and made him once again a freeman. In his last illness, brandy was prescribed, which he used strong enough to use only as a medicine, but after his death she "turned to it in her grief, and died, not many months later, a hopeless drunkard."

Let us tell a companion story as true as this but as different complexly from any story of a woman who after struggling with the premeditated strength of a living wife and mother for years against the demon of drink that possessed her husband, conquered it, and made him once again a freeman.

We invite the particular attention of persons who may wish to procure a beautiful, durable and economical ornament for graves of deceased relatives or friends, to the advertisement of Messrs.
Abrams, Amerine & Co.

We can assure our readers that this is no foreign or Yankee company, but the gentlemen composing it are all natives and citizens of the South. Mr.
Abrams is a native of Charleston, and graduate of the military school of that city. Maj. M. G. Hudson, of Mobile was Gen. Wheeler's Adjutant in the C.
S. A., and Dr. J. P. Amerine, a native of E. Tenn, was raised and educated in this country, where he has many relatives and friends who will take pleasure in bearing testimony to his intelligence, integrity and reliability.

Dr. Amerine, under his own personal supervision, has had one of these ornamental monuments placed over the grave
of Maj. John Pelham, in our graveyard, which has been much admired by all who have visited it. They will also execute other similar work, already engaged, in a short time.

Their Circulars contain numerous testimonials, by Editors of Newspapers and private individuals, of the cheapness,
excellence, durability and beauty of their work.

Our "Wanted" Column.

We are gratified to know that our "Wanted" column has met a want of the public, and is duly appreciated by those shrewd men
among our readers who, when they have anything to buy or sell, know
the importance of making the fact public.

This week we present among other wants, the want of a second
man who has a fine cow and calf
for sale; of another who has 300
bushels of corn for sale; of another who wants to exchange a 320 acre
place near Morrisville for a house
and lot near some good school, (say in Jacksonville, for instance), and who wants to sell 80 acres of land,
and who further wants to trade a good wagon for a yoke of oxen; of another who wants to buy six hundred dozen of oats.

Last week we noticed that the gentleman who advertised for a nurse, got one right away. The young man who wanted a lady correspondent, assures us that his advertisement has been answered.—
Other advertisements in the "wanted" column have so far met with equally prompt responses, save alone the one in which a "man to do steady spading and digging" was wanted. He didn't come very promptly. That man, be it said to the shame of our country, is not to be easily found in the South;
and that is partly what is the matter with us, and one reason why
we are getting along no better.—
If we had more men willing to do
"steady spading and digging," and fewer loafers, we would be a more prosperous people. But, as hard as the case was, the advertisement brought the man. He was an Italian, and came fifteen miles in answer to the advertisement. So this amply vindicates the value of our
"wanted" column as a medium
through which the people of the country can make their wants mutually known to each other, and have the same gratified. A means that can secure, in this hot and lazy season, a man to do "steady spading and digging," can scarcely fail to bring a seller to the man who wants to buy six hundred dozen bundle of oats, especially since Providence has blessed us this season with the finest oats crop we have had in many a long year.—
There may be a glut in the com-
market just now, but we advise advertisers of cattle not to despair.—
Grass is plenty in the country and
it costs little to keep them just now.
In and around Jacksonville it is different. The grass is all gone for a mile or two around, and the cows
we have here are not able to walk further than that and get back by milking time. Town folk, as a rule, never feed cows. Under this state of things the end is easily foreseen.
In a short time "fine milk" cows
about here will begin to peg out,
and then the advertisers of that useful animal will have, lovers of the lactical fluid at their mercy.—

We have now in our mind's eye two or three cows, about town, that we are confident do not get water except when it rains, and that have had nothing but dog fennel to eat in a month, except what they have stolen from the wagons of those of our friends from the country who have from time to time come in to trade with us. These cows cannot possibly last longer than two or three weeks more, and then our advertisers in that line can come in,
if they have not already sold.
Seriously, this column is a great convenience to the people of Calhoun, and the more it is patronized
the greater convenience it will become. If patronized to the extent
we have reason to hope it will be,
it will positively double the traffic
and trade of this country, by bringing buyer and seller and barterer
together. The expense is small, and we hope our friends will not be backward about making their wants known through it.

The closing exercises of Rev. J.
K. Armstrong's school occupied parts of three days, and reflected the very highest credit upon both teachers and pupils. It was so that we could not possibly be present during any part of the exercises, except the operetta Monday evening, but on every hand we have heard the whole referred to in terms of the highest praise. The compositions are spoken of as exceptional. We owe special thanks to the lovely young lady who discussed the editor among other things which presented themselves under the subject assigned
her. Her mind runs on sensible things. The operetta Monday evening was charming, but was not so distinctly heard throughout every part of the house as it might have been had the house been built
with more reference to acoustics,
and had there been less confusion
and noise among the younger of the audience. But notwithstanding these drawbacks, the young ladies and little girls on the stage
so well performed their parts and sang so divinely as to elicit repeated rounds of applause.

We learn through the newspapers that Mr. Armstrong has been elected to the Presidency of the Athens Female Seminary, and will leave us soon. We regret his determination to leave us sincerely.
He was a great acquisition to this community and his loss will be universally felt and regretted by all classes. We hope that Miss Cobb,
his gentle and competent assistant,
will remain with us, and continue
her connection with the Academy.
The pupils, large and small, all loved her, and few other teachers
there are who could have so readily acquired an influence over their minds and hearts. We have not heard whether it is Miss Cobb's intention to go or stay; but of the good of the school, we hope it may be the latter. Should, however, it be her design to leave our village for another field of labor, she will carry with her the universal esteem
and love of this community.

THE MASONIC CELEBRATION.

As one of the most sensible of our masonic brethren truly remarked,
after the dinner, without calling in
help we cannot describe as it deserves the masonic celebration and re-union which came off here on St. John's day. It was a most pleasant affair throughout. About seventy masons were in the procession, over half of whom were visiting brethren from adjoining lodges.—
Forming at the Hall, the procession marched, by the music of our excellent band, to the Baptist church, where a rich treat awaited
them in the shape of a fine address delivered by Rev. J. K. Armstrong, and the magnificent vocal music
made by a select choir. As the procession filed into the church,
the rich toned organ pealed forth
under the skillful touch of the organist, adding impressiveness to the scene. After prayer, and a masonic ode, sung by the choir
with faultless execution, came the address of Mr. Armstrong. The orator, although having an old and trite subject to deal with, to use his own expression, brought out from it things both old and new.—
The address was a masterly effort,
fully sustaining the high reputation
of Mr. Armstrong as a public speaker, and a powerful pulpit orator.—
The address ended, another beautiful song from the choir, and the installation of officers took place;

after which the brotherhood, with their families, marched to the Academy, where the ladies had prepared and spread a bountiful collation for their refreshment. Here
the time was given up to social enjoyment, and the whole evening was passed so delightfully that the craft were startled at the sound of the gavel of the Worshipful Master, and contrary to their wont, reluctantly returned to labor. The lodge closed, the order dispersed,
most our visiting brethren returned to their homes bearing with them the good will and esteem of every member of the lodge here.
May we all live to participate in many more such festive occasions.

The following is the work of our special artist. It is a copy of the picture of "old mother Noble"
Mother Noble can be found at Google's.

An Iowa young man arraigned for assaulting and battering his sweetheart
with a kiss, was discharged because the girl was so wonderfully lovely that the judge said he had to cling to the arms of his chair to keep from kissing her himself.

The joke-tell of the St. Louis Democrat heartily says: "Mr. Carpenter, of Marquette, Michigan, had not the slightest idea he was about to create an atmospheric disturbance
when he knocked the ashes out of his pipe on the head of a powder-cake. And when a fellow-workman conveyed all that was left of Mr. Carpenter to his wife in a bag, she quietly remarked:
Just his luck; hang him up in the wood-
shed, where the cats won't get at him,
till night."

Washington, June 21.—Michiganians City, Marquette county, on Lake Superior, was yesterday destroyed by fire, which caught from the burning of a stove, and contained some six hundred inhabitants. Among the buildings burned was the mill of Jackson Loughton, just equipped at an expense of forty thousand dollars. At Spring Lake, two houses and a number of barns were burned. The heat so warped the rails of the Marquette, Houghton and Ontonagon railroad as to render the passage of cars impossible in certain places. The telegraph poles were burned, and the wires are lying down along the route.

New York, June 21.—Commissioner Meacham's report of the Modoc fighting during the war says the Modocs
killed and wounded about three soldiers for every warrior in the force at the time, numbering not more than sixty-
five, and that during the first three days
of the fight this band not only held out against troops armed with every appliance
of modern warfare, but kept a passage open
for their retreat, which even the Warm
Spring Indian scouts could not close.
Meacham's idea of the best policy for future is that all trial lines should be abolished, and that the Indians be made amenable to the laws, and be placed on the same footing with other murderers.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Judge
C. T. Hayden of Arizona, left camp McDowell May 21st with a party of four Americans and three Mexicans, to prospect along Salt River. They had eight days provisions only. Nothing since has been heard of the party, and it is feared they have been murdered by the Apaches Indians.

PORTSMOUTH, Pa., June 21.—Forty houses here were burned, here. One man was killed. The fire broke out at St. Clair house company came to the rescue, four miles aloft, in sixteen minutes.
Several firemen were injured by falling ladders. Loss $130,000.

BRENTHAM, TEX., June 21.—The daily rains of the past week have nearly ruined the crops in this country. Planters are unable to keep down the weeds.
A great portion of the land in cultivation has been abandoned in consequence.

Special Notices.

"PAIN-KILLER."

There can be no necessity at this late day
for the press to speak in commendatory
terms of this remarkable medicine, in order to promote its sale; for it is a medicine that is known and appreciated the wide world
throughout. Whenever we speak of the Pain-Killer, as in the present instance, we do so in behalf of the afflicted, rather than in view of advancing the interests of its proprietors. For various diseases, such as rheumatism, cholera, cholera-morbus, burns,
sprains, bruises and so on to the end of the catalogue, we are convinced that there is no
remedy before the people equal to Davis' Vegetable "Pain-Killer," and we know that thousands upon thousands entertain the same belief. Certainly we cannot refer to the history of any other medicine which equals that of the "Pain-Killer." It was introduced in 1840, and from that time to this its sale, both at home and abroad, has been constant and rapidly increased, and we rejoice
at the high reputation it has achieved, because this reputation shows that it has been the means of relieving a vast amount of human suffering. We hope the present proprietors of Davis' Vegetable "Pain-Killer"
may long be able to enjoy the prosperity which they have so fairly won.

WHAT MERIT CAN DO.

In these days of close scrutiny into the qualities of the various preparations for the hair, it must be an article of manifest value that can successfully withstand the test of examination and prejudice.
But this the Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer most decidedly has done, and the most extraordinary and constant increase in its sales prove to be all it claims.—
A pure article, free from deleterious additiions, no mere dye, a positive cure
for dandruff and scalp affections, a stimulant and purifier for the hair, and elegantly perfumed. It is used by the most fashionable belles of the South.

READ THE TESTIMONY.

A. W. Taylor, Deputy Sheriff of Shelby county, Tennessee, states that he has used the Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer" himself, and in his family, and thinks it decidedly the best preparation for the hair sold. It restored the color of his own hair completely in a few weeks.

REUNION 10th ALA. REGIMENT.

In pursuance of a Resolution, adopted at the last annual Re-union of the 10th Ala.
Regt., the President appoints the following Committee of Arrangements for the next
Re-union, to be held in Jacksonville, August, 1873:

JAMES CROOK, COMPANY D,
JOHN WALKER, J. L. GREEN,
JOHN WALKER, J. L. GREEN,
COMPANY G.

W. R. HANNA, J. A. T. MARTIN,
JNO FLOYD SMITH, J. A. M. WHITESIDE.

This Committee, under the Resolution referred to, is authorized to appoint a Committee of citizens to assist it. To attend to this duty and other necessary matters the Committee is requested to meet in Jacksonville, Saturday, the 29th inst., at 2 o'clock.

L. W. GRANT, Sec'y.

To Kansas & Colorado!

During the summer season of 1873,
the Missouri Pacific Railroad will sell Excursion Tickets from St. Louis to Denver and return, at very low rates of fare,
and a rare opportunity is thereby offered, for lovers of nature to view the beauties of Colorado and enjoy the delightful scenery and health-inspiring climate of the Parks of the Rocky Mountains.

Kansas, with its broad and fertile plains, is directly on the route, and together with all the other Western States and Territories, is reached by the Missouri Pacific Railroad and its connections.

Medical Poisons on the Wane.

The patriarchs took no mercury, no bismuth, no iodine, no bromide of potassium,
no strychnia, no quinine. Happy old generations! they did not even know of the existence of these "specifics," and yet they lived until it seemed as if Death had forgotten them. Their medicine was herbs and roots. They have left this fact on record,
and the world seems to be now taking note
of it and returning to the first principles of medication. Hosts of Stomach Bitters, the purest and most efficacious vegetable remedy of the day, is also the most popular. Thousands of persons who only a few years ago believed implicitly in all the poisons which figure in the pharmacopoeia, now
pronounce this palatable tonic and altera-
tive all-sufficient remedy for dyspepsia,
nervous debility, constipation, bilious complaints, headache, intermittent fevers, and all the ordinary disturbances of the stomach, the liver, the discharging organs and the brain. The time is not far distant when the most of the powerful and venomous
drugs now so recklessly administered by pretendents of the "heroic" school in cases
that might easily be controlled by milder
treatment, will be utterly discarded by all philosophical physicians. As it is, the thinking public, who are generally ahead of the professionals, have already put the dangerous preparation aside and adopted Hoster's Bitters in their stead as a safe and effective household medicine, adapted to almost every ailment except the organic and deadly contagious diseases. For more than twenty years this famous restorative and preervative has been annually strengthening its hold upon the public confidence, and it
now takes the lead of every advertised medicine manufactured in this country.

A CHEAP HOME.

I will sell the House and Lot where I now live. The Lot contains two acres, enclosed with a sawed fence, one and a half acre in clover of second year's growth; an excellent well of never failing water, curbed to the top with stone. The dwelling is new, nicely painted, contains six rooms; in the yard a dry well or dairy with brick floor and walls, with handsome flower yard in front of the house. A rich vegetable garden in rear of the house.
The improvements are now and good.

The health of the community is unsurpassed. The scenery is beautiful around, mountains being in full view.
Church and School facilities good. Parties from the low country in search of health, would do well to stop and see, as I am determined to sell. Price, $1200.00.

POETRY.

This World.

This world is a sea, and place, I know—
And what soul living can doubt it?
But it will not lessen the want and woe
To be always sighing about it.
Then away with those that are full of tears,
Away with those that are full of woe,
Let us make the most of our fleeting years,
By singing the lays that gladden.

A few sweet pations of bliss I've quaffed,
And many a cup of sorrow;
But in thinking of the favored draught,
The old time joy I sorrow.
And in brooding over the bitter drink,
Pain fills again the measure.
And so I have learned that 'tis better to think
Of the things that give us pleasure.

The world at its saddest is not all sad;
There are days of sunny weather;
And the people within it are not all bad,
But saints and sinners together.
I think those wonderful hours of June
Are better by far to remember
Than those when the earth is out of tune
In the cold bleak winds of November.

Because we meet in the walks of life
Many a noble creature,
It doesn't prove that the world of strife
Has no redeeming feature.
There is bloom of beauty upon this earth;
There are buds and blossoming flowers;
There are souls that are full of worth;
There are glowing golden hours.

In thinking over a joy we've known
We rarely make a mistake;
Which is better by far than to mope and moan
Over sorrow and grief and trouble.
For though this life is full of pain,
And who that is living can doubt it?
It will not lessen the want and woe
To be always sighing about it.

Pleasant Resolutions.

In New Orleans a committee of white and colored citizens, including such distinguished characters as Gen. G. P. T. Beauregard of the late Confederate army and the Hon. C. C. Antoine, the colored Lieutenant-Governor in the spirituous Kellogg Government, have been passing some well-intended resolutions. In these, as representatives of the two predominant races in Louisiana, they pledge themselves to join in a movement for the unification of the people without distinction of origin, color, or religion, and to work for the regeneration of that unhappy State, which, as they justly observe, is now "threatened with death in every vital organ of her material and political being." The remedies proposed for this unfortunate condition of affairs are to bury out of sight all prejudices of race, introduce a colored element in the direction of banks, insurance offices and the like; and "in view of the numerical equality" between the white and colored people in Louisiana, to arrange for an equal division between blacks and whites of all the offices of trust and emolument in the State. This, the committee appear to think, will put Louisiana on her legs again.

The words of this committee are praiseworthy, because they manifest the purpose to encourage a spirit of conciliation between the white and colored races, and to banish from sight or recollection the distinctions of class and race which existed during the period of slavery. The disposition shown to do away with the spirit of prejudice, whether held by the negroes against their white neighbors, or the contrary, is excellent; but except as they serve to express a feeling which may or may not be sincere, these resolutions, to use a homely phrase, are not worth a bundle of shucks.

Giving the negroes a full half of all the public offices in Louisiana will not be sure to restore prosperity to that State, or to conduce to better relations between the races. The people there may be divided into two classes, those who pay taxes, own property, and have a material interest in the prosperity of the commonwealth, and those who neither own property nor pay taxes. The first class is composed almost entirely of whites. To these may be added a few well-educated colored men, mostly to be found in New Orleans. The second class includes nearly the whole of the negro population, and it is by the votes of this class, aided by interference from Washington, that a gang of thieves have been enabled to plunder the State without mercy.

To suppose that giving the representatives of this class more power would better matters in any respect is folly. There is no just occasion for any antagonism of races in Louisiana. The negro left to himself is not violent nor turbulent, but on the contrary tractable and easily influenced by those whom he believes to be his friends. He is warm in his attachments, and the kindest relations might to-day be subsisting throughout Louisiana between the people of the two races had it not been for the machinations of the carpet-baggers who have made the ignorant blacks believe them their only friends, and then used their confidence to instill in their minds feelings of hostility toward the mass of the white race.

What the people of that State want to bring about is a return of prosperity, and what they have a right to, is the unrestricted exercise of self-government. Louisiana is to-day rehabilitated in all the rights and prerogatives which belonged to her previous to the rebellion, and there is no reason why she should either bargain with negroes about the division of offices, or ask the gracious permission of President Grant in order to be permitted to choose her own rulers. It is true that her legally constituted Government has been overthrown by military force; but that has been done in defiance of law to mainly advance the schemes of a disreputable member of the President's family. But for this outrage a day of reckoning is to come, and it will come surely. In the mean time it is pleasant to see white and colored citizens adopting resolutions of mutual esteem, and it is to be hoped that these proceedings may be productive of good results. But millions of such resolutions would not restore to Louisiana one of the rights which have been torn from her by the insolent hand of unlawful power.

The Bender Murders -- Minon's Statements.

(Leavenworth (Kansas) Commercial.)

By letter and through the medium of one of our exchanges, we have received some more information concerning the last reported act in the great tragedy of Southern Kansas, the suicide of Nicholas Minon. The people have become interested to know what were the confessions made by him, which the telegraph so dimly hinted at. The story as reported is that he admitted that he went South with the Bender family soon after the murders in Kansas, and that he knew them, and that they were going from Dallas to Kaufman. He says that Bender acknowledged there have been 140 men killed in Kansas. It does not seem from the intelligence yet received that Minon had anything to do with the murders as an accessory before the fact, but it would appear that he, in some manner, got into their confidence afterward, and buried in his bosom the dreadful secret revealed. When he did make them public, and found that the eye of suspicion was fastened upon him, and that a United States detective was watching him, and would not let him get off at Caddo, and that he was even suspected of being one of the Benders, despair seized upon him, and he rashly took his own life. The circumstances were that the prisoner was seated in the passenger-car. It was not known to the United States detective, who was dogging his every step and watching all his motions, that he had a weapon concealed on his person. He suddenly drew a Smith & Wesson pocket-pistol, placed the muzzle to his forehead and fired, blowing a two-inch hole in his skull, from which the brain protruded.

LYNCHING IN LOUISIANA.

The Murderers of Snare and Laret Hanged by a Mob.

NEW IBERIA, La., June 17.—The four negroes who murdered Laret and Snare last Friday night in their store were arrested in that neighborhood this morning. One of them turned State's evidence, and told how the crime was committed, the plot having been made over a week before. After a close investigation by Mr. Seymour Snare, a brother of one of the murdered men, no doubt remained of the guilt of the negroes.

By this time people in large numbers had assembled and clamored for a summary execution of the murderers, but they were saved by the intercession of Mr. Snare, who then started for this place. The prisoners were brought here, and on their arrival the indignant citizens, numbering over a thousand, took them to the woods on the east side of the Bayou Teche and hanged three of them to the limb of a tree. They confessed that they had taken part in the crime, but insisted that the one who turned State's evidence cut the throat of Laret.

A North Carolina Farmer Kills his Wife and Shoots Himself.

RALEIGH, June 21.—On Saturday morning last, in Yadkin county, occurred one of the coolest and most determined murders and suicides ever committed in this State. John Holcombe and his wife, Julia, who had been married about a year, were the subjects. Julia possessed uncommon beauty, and was suspected of infidelity to her marriage vows. She was on the eve of leaving home to visit Salisbury and Charlotte. Holcombe, having endeavored to dissuade her from leaving without success, decided to murder her and commit suicide. He drew his pistol and fired, with frightful coolness, three shots at her, death ensuing almost instantly. The neighbors were attracted to the house by the reports of the pistol, and found Holcombe reloading his weapon. He told the crowd if any one approached him he would shoot him. When he had finished loading he walked to the muzzle of the pistol to his left breast and pulled the trigger. His lifeless body fell across that of his beautiful but wayward wife. The hall had passed through his heart.

Correct Spelling.

An Ohio paper says a man who will take a paper 4 or 5 years and then refuse to pay for it, should begin his name with an h and end it with a g and put an o in the middle. An exchange remarks that an editor who will send his paper to a man four or five years without getting his pay for it should begin his name with an f and end it with an h, and put two o's in the middle.

FOR CASH!

All of our goods are, without exaggeration, of superb quality. If you are doubtful of the correctness of this statement just take the time and bring the money or the equivalent and you will be surprised at the low prices when the money is seen. We recently received the best assortment as well as quality of

we've ever had. The balance of our stock are in stagnant (respectfully submitted to the taste of the printer.)

For cash will release all and settle by the 1st of January, as we have liabilities to meet by that time which are imperative.

Yours truly,

DRAPER & JOHNSON.
